> The President of the Wrecked Bank Could Not Face the Music

The Rash Act Precipitated by the Prospect of Prison.

His Fears of Violence at the Hands of His Victims-Startling Revelations of the Bank-wrecker's

San Diego, March 8.—By the Asso ciated Press.] J. W. Collins, president of the broken California National Bank, the funds of which he was charged with having embezzled to the amount of $200,000, shot and killed himself in his room today.

The tidings startled the community. Crowds gathered on the street and hurried to the Hotel Brewster, where Col-lins had been residing for the past eighteen months. It soon became known that Collins, Gen. E. H. Murray and Atty.-Gen. Hart had been at lunch t gether at the Brewster. Collins looked very pale, but chatted pleasantly. He was asked how he was feeling and replied, "Oh, about as well as could be expected." In a few minutes Collins left the table and went direct to his room. A few minutes later the report of a pistol was heard, and when the door of the room was opened Collins was found lying on the floor of his bathroom, with blood streaming over him and a pistol in his hand. He expired almost immediately. He did not live long enough to speak to any one.

The deed was not wholly unexpected. He has evidently been laboring under a great nervous strain and mental depression for some time. About two years ago his entire family was drowned in the bay, and now that he was financially ruined, and with a charge of em-bezzlement hanging over him, it is thought he was where he considered he had nothing to live for.

The California National Bank, which losed its doors November 12 last, was onsidered one of the strongest institutions, financially, in Southern Cali-fornia. It had a pald-up capit of $500,000 and a surplus of $100,000. SECURITY LOAN AND TRUST OO.

HIS LAST RESORT.

The Tragedy Not Unexpected—Collins
Febred Violence.
SAN DIEGO, March 8.—[Special.]
The suicide of J. W. Collins, president of the California National Bank, at his rooms in the Brewster Hotel afternoon was a tragic end of his career that by many had been regarded as possible, and was therefore not entirely unex-pected. The suicide of the cashier of the Cheyenne (Wyo.) bank, of which Collins was president, and whose failure was precipitated by the failure here, naturally suggested that Collins might adopt the same course as a way out of business troubles, though there were few, familiar with the facts, who expected that Collins would take his own life from the motive of unwillingness to live with a stain upon his honor, as was said to be the case with his Chey-enne cashier: In facts on after the Cheyenne suicide, Com made such light of that event as to leave those in hearing to doubt whether he possessed such moral sensibilities as would suggest to him the dire alternative of self murder as a means of escape from life with dishonor.

HOW THE FACTS WERE SUPPRESSED. From the very first the bank failure was known to be a bad one, but for some reason the newspape's adopted the mistaken policy of suppressing the facts and deluding the people with the hope that the bank would resume. So much sympatny and consideration was shown for Collins that he seemed to come to regard himself as a victim of untoward circumstances instead of his over-insufficiency and dishonesty, and to entertain the expectation that if the bank resumed he would have at least a responsible place in its management and operation. Indeed, after the failure of the bank he allowed his name to go before the stockholders' meeting as a condidate for a place in the directory. But when he was arrested and found himself unable to give the bond required for his release from custody it dawned upon him that his mismanage-ment of the broken bank was a more serious affair than he had supposed. WE PRIDED PERSONAL VIOLENCE

It has been known here to some that there are a few who feel their lo the bank's failure so deeply and hold Collins so responsible individually for that loss that they were resolved to take their satisfaction at the first sight of him, and it is believed that when he was notified that he was to be taken to Los Angeles the dread of what might happen to him if he left the shelter of the hotel, even in the custody of officers, along with the utterly hopeless outlook for escape from the penitentiary, prompted him to end the whole matter by taking his own life. His suicide will taken as a confession of guilt.

CROOKED METHODS DISCLOSED. It is doubtful if $200,000 will cover the amount lost through his reckless and dishonest business methods. One of his methods was to take an interest in an enterprise as an individual and lend it money from the bank. If it suc-ceeded the investment, was his own, if it failed the loss was the bank's. It generally failed, and a straw note took the place of the cash advanced. way thousands of dollars went into mines in Lower California for which there was nothing to show except holes in the ground. Other thousands went into enterprises whose failure as investments was from the beginning certain from lack of proper conditions in the way of local resources or popula

Sensational Murder Case at Chicago.

The Son of Rev. Dr. Scudder Arrested for the Crime. His Victim the Aged Stepmother of

His Young Wife.

A Strong Chain of Evidence Against the Alleged Murderer-A Plea of Insanity Promptly Interposed in His Behalf.

By Telegraph to The Times.

CHICAGO, March 3.—[By the Associated Press.] It is an ugly thing to say of a man who occupies a prominent pro-fessional and social position that he murdered his mother-in-law for her noney, and yet this is what F. H. Dunton, an aged and wealthy gentleman, who lives at 22 Aldine Square, accuses Dr. Henry M. Scudder of having done Scudder married an adopted daughter of Dunton, whose invalid wife had a large fortune in her own right, which, to a few days before her death, she had proposed to leave to some blood rel-atives, but which, at last, as she lay in bed, but half conscious of what she was doing, as her husband alleges, she was induced to sign over to Scudder's wife.

On February 21 another physician was hastily summoned and found Mrs. Dunton unconscious and dying, with several severe scalp wounds, caused, acseveral severe scalp wounds, caused, ac-cording to Scudder's tale, by falling against furniture in the room. A Scudder was the last man said to have spoken with her, and as he could not spoken with her, and as he could not account satisfactorily for the wounds, suspicion fell on him and Mr. Dunton swore out a warrant for his arrest yesterday. Scu ider is said to be ill and is guarded in his own house by officers.

This afternoon Scudder's father and mother appeared before County Judge Scales and applied to have their son committed to the detention hospital for examination as to his sanity.

examination as to his sanity.

Mr. Duuton is proprietor of a publication known as The Spirit of the Turf.

Speaking of the case this afternoon, he said: "Scudder was alone with my wife previous to her death. The wounds on her head were not there before he came her head were not there before he came nor was his explanation of them satis-factory. More than that, she had lately altered her will in favor of his wife. Putting these things together, I am con-vinced that the man murdered my wife to gain her money."

The body of Mrs. Dunton, which was buried at Janesville, Wis., will be exhumed for examination.

Dr. Scudder is a son of the eminent clergyman, Rev. Dr. Scudder. He was born in Arcott, India, forty years ago. At an early age he came to San Francisco, where the latter became pastor of the Howard Presbyterian Church. At the age of 17 he entered Yale and went through that college. He then spent several years studying medicine in Philadelphia. New York, London and Paris. In 1876 he was appointed medical officer of the American Arcot Mission in India. He spent about ten years in that country, achieving an enviable reputation as a practitioner and was for some time medical officer for the English government for the surwas for some time medical omcer for the English government for the sur-rounding district. For his services during the famine of 1878 and 1879 and later during the epidemic of Asiatic cholera he was highly complimented in official orders.

o he returned to Chicago Eight years on a visit and offers induced him to re main. Since then he has become well He devoted much time to hom missionary work, especially to the relief of sickness and suffering among the poor. He has been at the head of the poor. He has been at the head of the free dispensary of the Armour mission, chief examining officer for prominent life insurance companies, and has held positions on the staffs of the largest hospitals. The case has created a great sensation

It is said that Mrs. Dunton opposed Scudder's marriage to her adopted daughter, and never became reconciled to it. Hannah Johnson, a domestic, asserts that when she heard Mrs. Dunton scream she rushed in and saw Scudton scream she rushed in and saw Scudder beating the prostrate woman over the head. Weighboring physicians were quickly called and expressed surprise at the nature of the cuts. Scudder said she had fallen in a fit and cut her head on the furniture. This seemed singular to the other doctors since the room had very little furniture. tors, since the room had very little fur-niture and it seemed impossible that anyone could receive such injuries. Dr. Scudder said he had given Mrs. Dunton an injection of a quarter of a grain of morphine, and that she struggled so that it bent the needle of the hypoder-mic syringe. He appeared greatly ex-cited and as Dr. Leavitt was about to leave inquired if it would not be well to give Mrs. Dunton another injection, and produced another syringe. Leavitt said an injection of brandy or whisky would be beneficial, and Scudder made preparations to administer it.

Said Leavitt tonight: "I don't know what drug he administered. I only know that Mrs. Dunton died that afternoon." Disagreeable stories are rife about a serious illness Mr. Dunton had last month, after taking medicine of Scudder. Little stock is generally taken in the statement that the alleged nurderer is insane.

Tonight Scudder was placed in the detention hospital for the insane.

A NEWSPAPER WAR.

The Two Suns That Shine in San Diego.

United States Marshal Gard Edits One of the Papers.

And Warren Wilson Holds the Fort with the Other.

Both Sides Explain the Situation-A Pec liarly Funny Situation in Journal-istic Circles—Sassing Each Other.

There are two Suns in San Diego This looks like a superabundance of so-lar light for a section of Southern California that is usually well supplied with sunshine, and in this respect the city of Bay'nclimate is now occupying a posi-tion which is unique. It all arose from the complications in the affairs of the Daily Sun newspaper, which, after a series of gyrations highly amusing to disinterested spectators, culmmated in a comical climax. Wednesday two different papers, each claiming to be the Daily Sun, were issued from separate offices, and under widely different man

As has been explained in these col umns, the Sun was attached by Receive Pauly, of the California National Bank on a promissory note for $8144, signed by Dr. Gochenauer. Walter G. Smith by Dr. Gochenauer. Walter G. Smith was appointed keeper, or temporary receiver, and the paper continued publication for two days. Tuesday morning there was some conflict of authority between Mr. Smith and Warren Wilson, the general manager. Mr. Smith thereupon produced his authority as receiver of the Sun Company and Mr. Wilson withdrew. However, he secured the assignment to him of a controlling interest in the stock of the company, and, acting in the capacity of general manager, discharged the entire force, printers, carriers, reporters, bookand, acting in the capacity of general manager, discharged the entire force, printers, carriers, reporters, bookkeepers, etc. He immediately reëmployed them and led the way to a job printing office on D street, between First and Front streets and proceeded to the work of reorganizing the force preparatory to publishing another Sun. Tuesday morning, when Mr. Smith came down to the office, he found himself and Mr. Simpson, the advertising manager, the sole occupants. He was undaunted, however, and at once organized a force and began the work of getting out the paper at the old stand. This was unexpected on the part of Mr. Wilson, but at 11 o'clock he secured an injunction from Judge Puterbaugh restraining Mr. Smith from publishing the Sun. Not caring to go on against an order of the court, Mr. Smith at once resigned his position. Marshal Gard thereupon appointed J. R. Wade as receiver and the latter went ahead with the work and 'he paper came out on time. with the work and the paper came out zeal."

The other San Diego Sun, which, like the other, is the only official one, appears in folio form, eight column to the page, with extremely wide margins—different in every detail except in the head, of which an electrotype dupli-cate has been secured in some manner. This paper, which appears under the ed-itorial and business management of Warren Wilson, shows the result of its hasty get up, but the way it claws for the scalps of United States Govern-ment agents is a caution. After going for an esteemed morning contemp for alleged misrepresentations in regard to the trouble he pays his respects to the United States Marshal and asks: Why does Mr. Gard or Receiver Pauly wish to run and edit a paper in San Diego wish to run and cutta paper and anyhow?

Is it because Babcock and the Union would like to have a creature of their own to edit in their interest?

Or is it because Receiver Pauly's newspaper proclivities in dictating editorials to the Sun for two days this week were not satisfied, and there are a few things he wants to "explain" over this attempt to wreck the Sun?

Or is it because Marshal Gard could rely upon Keeper Smith perpetuating the hide-

Editor Wilson says that the United States will be asked to remove its second-hand printing material from the Sun building as soon as possible, to enable the only original Sun to shine once

An Interesting Meeting Held Last Evening
—Papers Presented.
The regular meeting of the Southern California Library Association occurred last evening in the Librarian's office. Twenty-one were present, including Miss Vandever, librarian at Vandever; Mrs. Smith, librarian at Riverside; representatives of the Normal, High and public schools, and several members of the library training class. It being especially a school meeting, the papers read were bearing on schools in relation read were bearing on schools in relation to the library.

Excellent papers were presented on supplementary reading in the schools; Mrs. Wadleigh on "History." Misses Packard and Fox on "Literature" and Miss Merritt on "Geography."

Each paper was followed by a very enthusiastic discussion.

The next meeting will occur April 7, when papers on "Classification" by Miss L. Younkin, librarian at San Diego, and "American Reference Libraries" by Miss H. E. Dunn, will be presented.

MUNROE IN JAIL.

Locked Up Last Night on a Charge of Forgery.

The Complaint Sworn to Yesterday After noon by Jackson on the Henry Order-Developments Looked for Today.

George Munroe, the public accountant and insurance man, who, as secretary of the State Investment Company indorsed the forged orders for warrants and sold them to the attorney, J. W. Jackson, was arrested late yesterday afternoon on complaint of Jackson charged with forgery, and in default of $2500 bail was, at a late hour last night taken to the County Jail, where he was locked up.

Yesterday morning J. L. Murphy was retained as counsel by Messrs. Jackson and Cox, but neither that gentleman nor the principals would make any statement or furnish any information about the matter.

Inquiry at the office of Mr. Munroe was met by the reply that that gentle-man was still sick at his home on Adams street and would not be at his office.

During the morning quite a number of persons called at the office, but all were persons called at the office, but all were met with the same reply.

Between 3 and 4 o'clock Mr. Jackson, accompanied by his attorney, appeared before Justice Austin, when the following complaint was sworn to:

Personally appeared before me this 3d day of March, 1892, J. W. Jackson of Pasadena, in the county of Los Angeles, who, being first duly sworn, complains and says:
That on or about the 1st day of February, 1892, at and in Los Angeles city, in the county of Los Angeles, State of California, the crime of forgery was committed by George Munroe, who, at the time last afore, said, did wilfully, unlawfully, feloniously and with intent to defraud one J. Munroe was then taken into the Justice's private room, and sent word to several friends, asking them to go on his bond. The officer returned in a few minutes, saying the parties had all re-fused, and Munroe, in charge of an offi-cer, was allowed to go to his home. Justice Austin then left the courtroom, stating that he would take the neces developments looked for at any time.

As will be noticed, but one complaint has been filed. It is stated on reliable authority that Jackson has in his hands between forty and fifty orders, for which he paid $1760 in cash, which would represent about $2000 in paper.

The Public Library

The regular monthly meeting of the board of directors of the public library was held yesterday, there being present Directors Davies, Howard and Severance.

Bills to the amount of $515.13 were approved and ordered paid.

The librarian, Miss Kelso, reported that the total circulation of books for the month of February was 80,480. There were 891 new books added, of which 101 were donations; 548 new members signed the register; 1198 books were distributed to the teachers for use in the schools.

Director Howard moved that a communication be addressed to the Secre-munication be addressed to the Secre-tary of State regarding the completion of the sets of public documents of Cali-fornia now in the library.

IN SOCIAL SPHERES.

[News intended for this department should be furnished promptly, and sent addressed "THE TIMES —Society News," accompanied by the name of the sender as a guarantee. Write briefly and plainly, giving the facts without needless verbiage.]

The Oxymel and Arar Clubs will tender a joint reception to Charles A. Vogelsang, of the Frederick Warde company, next Saturday morning from 10 to 12 at the home of Miss Forrester on West Seventh street. Mr. Vogelsang was a valued member of the Oxymel Club before he left the city some months since to join the Warde company, and is meeting with a warm reception here on this, his first professional visit to

Los Angeles. The Arar Club was charmingly entertained Thursday morning at the residence of Mrs. Shiffman, corner of Seventh and Hope streets. Luncheon was served from 12 until 1 o'clock. Among those present were Mmes. Bartlett, Burdette, Steckel, Wanger, Shiffman; Misses Dora Bryant and Ethel Graham, Misses Lockhart, Knecht, Laura and Mae Forrester.

A DANCING PARTY.
Wednesday evening the gentlemen of Prof. Kramer's advanced dancing class tendered a surprise to their lady friends and classmates by preparing an unusually excellent dancing programme.

Music was rendered by Romandy's Hungarian orchestra and a very enjoyable evening was passed. Among those present were Misses Dissoway, Griffith, Thacher, Rorick, Parcells, Belle Wallace, Agnes Wallace, Reynolds, Harnett, Maude Hersch, Newman, Allan, Van Sylack, Weaver, Samson, M. L. Samson, M. Irey, Harvey; Messry, Wankaushi, Musch, Rich, A. C. Brode, Klapproath, L. Schiff, S. Schiff, Fred Knopp, Gollmer, Cohn, Stewart, Har-Riapproath, L. Schiff, S. Schiff, Fred Knopp, Golimer, Cohn, Stewart, Har-vey, Loewenstein, McGowen, Steven-son, Wilson, M. L. Meyer, Peterson, Ira C. Houser, Del Hammel, A. Green-ing, B. F. Coulter, Jr., W. T. Moore, W. F. Anderson, Emery, Aleck Newman, A. Barber and others.

A QUIET WEDDING

Wednesday evening, at the home of the bride's father on Thirty-first street, Miss Capitola Bishop was united in marriage to Frank Berman. The house was tastefully decorated, and the bridal couple stood under a bower of smilax. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. W. Rider and winnessed by the relatives of the happy pair. Mr. and Mrs. Berman will be at home on East Twenty-fourth street.

PERSONAL MENTION. Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox and daughter of Philadelphia are the guests of Mrs. Margaret Hughes of St. James Park, who is a sister of Mrs. Wilcox. They have visited Old Mexico, Coronado and other points of interest, and last even-ing were at the citrus fair, which they pronounced the greatest of them all. Mr.
Wilcox was in California eighteen years ago, and notes several changes since that time.
Miss Berta Dague gave an oyster dinner Tuesday night to a few intimate friends in honor of her guest, Miss Loa Holmes of Sierra Madre. Miss Jeanette Reinstein has returned from her trip to San Bernardino, the guest of Mrs. Oppenheimer.

Miss Hattie Baker, one of Santa Ana's most charming young ladies, is in the city on a short visit.

RAILROAD AFFAIRS.

An Enterprising Station Agent—General and Local Notes.

Station Agent Allen, of the South Pacific Coast Road at Santa Clara, is charged with having used the waiting-room of his station for a ballroom and giving dancing lessons therein. He had a piano in the ladies' waiting-room and has been in the habit of giving dancing lessons both in the afternoon and at night. As it might have bothered him to have other people besides his pupils come into the rooms, he kept the doors locked to all except the members of his classes. The fact that people wait-ing for trains had no place to sit down did not make any difference with him. did not make any difference with him. His academy continued to flourish for several weeks, when all of a sudden people began to complain about the waiting-rooms always being closed, particularly in the afternoons. An investigation revealed the cause, and while the officials made sad havoc with the dancing-school, they are admiring Allen's stupendous "cheek" to such an extent that they have not had the heart te discharge him. In fact, the Examito discharge him. In fact, the Exami-ner says, they are talking more or less seriously of making him a claim adjus ter for the company.

MR. POLLASKY'S ROAD. On account of various and vague reports about the Fresno road, a dispatch has been sent out from that city saying that the facts in the case that the facts in the case of the mountain railroad are that Marcus Pollasky mortgaged the San Joaquin Valley Railroad to the Metropolitan Trust Company of New York for $2,000,000. On this mortgage bonds to the amount of $520,000 have been issued for the section of road already completed. SCRAP HEAP. The ticket brokers and passenger agents, without exception, report the passenger traffic to the East during February the dullest known in years. W. H. Snedaker, general agent of the Rio Grande Western, has arrived in San Francisco from Salt Lake, where he had gone in the interests of his road.

Richard Gray, general traffic manager of the Southern Pacific, is in Chicago on official business.

A Voluntary Prisoner.
William Gillis, the Deputy Collector of Customs who was arrested by Deputy Constable Tom Weller on the charge of an assault with a deadly weapon, with intent to commit murder, is in jail, says the San Diego Union of Wednesday. This, however, is at his own request. When arraigned Gillis gave bonds in the sum of $2000 for his appearance at his preliminary examination before Justice Dudley today. On the advice of his attorney Gillis presented himself at the jail Monday night, was locked up and his bondsmen discharged. The reason of this was made known vesterreason of this was made known yester-day by his attorneys preparing a writ of habeas corpus, returnable at Los Angeles. The petition is based on the alleged fact that Gillis is a United States officer, and as such was in dis-charge of his duty when the alleged of-fense was committed and, therefore, the State of California has no jurisdiction over his case. His attorneys hold that this is a minor, though parallel, case to that of Marshal Nagle, who shot David S. Terry, and whose case was taken out of the State courts.

AMUSEMENTS TONIGHT.

AT THE OPERAHOUSE-Richard III.

TRE State Citrus Fair now in progres in this city is in some respects the most attractive of any ever held in California. It should be liberally patronized. Eastern visitors, especially, cannot afford to miss it.

INSPECTOR DONOBUE, of the New York custom-house, concluded it would be wise to rub the humps of two apparently hump-backed passengers from Europe. The deformities consisted of a large stock of gems and jewels.

THE report that Secretary Foster's mission to England is not really for his health, but to hold a conference with Mr. Goschen, Chancellor of the Exchequer, is denounced by silver men as a ruse to delay legislation by Congress.

"CLEVELAND or collapse" shrieks the New York Evening Post to the Democratic party. Whereupon, the Toledo Blade observes that, as Cleveland is now nothing but a stuffed reminiscence, there is no reason why the Democracy shall not collapse.

Ir strikes us that Jay Gould has got an undue amount of advertising out of his gift of $10,000 to the Presbyterian Church. Many a man of his wealth has given a great deal more for beneficent purposes, and his left hand has hardly known what his right hand did. Gould knows how to work both the stock market and the public.

MRS. JENNESS-MILLER, who accomp lished so much in reforming women's under-garments, has at last taken holdmetaphorically speaking-of men's shirts. What reform she proposes in this useful and ornamental garment we have not learned, but if she thinks she can make men take it off downwards instead of upwards she is making a grave mistake. Men have a iew prejudices which they will never surrender, and this is one of them.

Among the political rumors rife at Washington is the one that Whitelaw Reid wishes to run for Vice-President on the Republican ticket, as it is understood that Mr. Morton does not desire a renomination, and that this is the reason Mr. Reid proposes to resign the French mission. This takes several things for granted, one of which is that Mr. Morton could have the nomination for Vice-President even if he wants it. Some people believe there is to be

THE New York Times draws this doleful picture of some of the boom towns in Kansas:

There are twenty well-built towns in this State without a single inhabitant to waken the echoes of their deserted streets. Saratoga has a $30,000 operahouse, a large brick hotel, a $20,000 schoolhouse and a number of fine business houses, yet there is nobody even to claim a place to sleep. He banks remain, but they are silent. Some of her dwellings stand there, monuments of schoolhouse stands on the side of the hill, a monument of the bond-voting craze. Most of the buildings have been removed or are torn down. The hotel keeps gloomy watch cover the remaining houses, added by the tute the sole population of what was one an incorporated city.

UNITED STATES MARSHAL GARD has blossomed out into a newspaper pnblisher in his official capacity, and he is the power which actuates one of the Suns that now beams upon San Diego. Warren Wilson publishes the other Sun, and it is hard to see how the two orbs can exist long in such close proximity without precipitating a wreck ter and a crash of worlds. It is laugh able, sometimes, to see how men will fight over the carcass of a newspaper which has been dead so long that it is unfit to skin. The San Diego Sun has accomplished nothing for a few years past except to sink $8000 or $10,000 for its backers, and yet two sets of men want it so badly that they are fighting for it.

THE Associated Press report of the pugilistic contest between Fitzsimnons and Maher at New Orleans last Wednesday is authority for the statement that Maher went into the fight considerably out of sorts. He objected first, to fighting on Ash Wednesday and secondly, he was greatly annoyed by the fact that he forgot to go to church Wednesday morning. In being thus compelled to go against his con science and to regret a religious shortcoming at the same time the pugilist was thrown into a savage temper, and of course he could not expect the divine blessing to rest upon his efforts in the prize ring. Had Maher been able to fortify himself a little better in point of piety there is no telling what a different complexion might not have been given to the fight. Seriously, the compromises which some men make with their consciences are marvelous, not to say astounding. Most people would think that a little Christian doctrine absorbed at such a time would unfit man for going into a brutal contest of this sort, wherein he is expected for money to maltreat, and possibly kill, his antagonist. But there are all sorts of religionists in the world, and the book of peace and good will to men has been subjected to many savage interpretations, and has been held up as justification for no end of bloodshed. Let us leave Maher alone to his conscience and his damaged head.

Trades-Unionism in San Francisco A big fight is brewing in San Francisco on the question of trades-union ism. A short time ago the firm of Cahn, Nickelsburg & Co., boot and shoe manu facturers, put in a new stitching machine with double needles into one of their departments. It was found, in a fair test, that an operator using the machine could do one-third more work than by the former method. As wages were based on piece-work the firm claimed the advantage of the laborsaving machinery, cutting down prices was given to the operative and 25 per for this kind of work one-quarter. Of asserted that the operatives could make the 83 per cent. gain, then, 8 per cent. cent. was claimed by the proprietor. is better wages under the new regulation than under the old. But this did not suit the Federated Trades. They claimed all the advantage of the new labor-saving machinery for the opera Under the dictation of the Fed tives. erated Trades the employes of Cahn, Nickelsburg & Co. struck, and a boycott was declared against that establish ment.

There are in San Francisco nine firms of boot and shoe manufacturers They saw that their interests lay to gether and that the trade tyranny operating against one firm was directed against all. They therefore combined in a mutual association and made com mon cause, retaliating upon the Federated Trades in kind. They all issued notices and posted them in their establishments to the effect that, unless the Federated Trades remove the boycott on Cahn, Nickelsburg & Co. before next Monday, the Association of Boot Manufacturers will discharge every person in their factories belonging to a union that affliates with the Federated Trades. This is giving the strikers and boycotters a dose of their own medicine It will probably precipitate a conflict. As organization is met by organization it will be a fair game of "cut, and com again." San Francisco industries have long suffered from the domineering interfer ence of trades unions. Already one or two large manufacturing establish ments have closed their doors and moved elsewhere so as to be free from these unreasonable exactions. We happen to know that a large concern of San Francisco is now thinking seriously of removing its plant to Los Angeles, because the firm believed that they would be less subjected to trade tyranny here than there.

Mr. Cahn, one of the members of the boycotted firm, said to a reporter the other day: "The manufacturers are now united as against the Council of Federated Trades, not with the intention of forcing wages down, but simply because they have grown heartsore of having to treat with committees, the members of which care about as little for the members of their union as they do for those who hire labor."

Mr. Rosse, secretary of the United Workingmen's Cooperative Boot and Shoe Company, said: "We want to have a little to say about the management of our own business. For a long time employers have had to step very carefully for fear of treading on a union rule They have had them strewn all over the factories. It got to be a most serious matter and we had to do something. The Federated Trades has been ruling with an iron rod. Mauufacturers are not alone complaining. The members of the unions have been gradually awakening to the fact that their leaders are despotic. Not one employer in a million would dare to ride as roughshod over his men as the leaders in this council do over the members of the unions. I have found that the men are weary of this rule and disgusted with the insincerity and lack of consideration evinced by the delegates who are presumed to represent their interests. I believe that the great majority of the men engaged in the factories will keep right on working when Monday comes and that there will be no trouble."

Thus, it seems, there is a point beyond which the forbearance of employers of abor cannot go. When the dictation of trades-unionism becomes so onerous that it deprives owners of the power to control their own affairs and compels them to submit and be ruined or to sist and takes their chances they will resort to the latter alternative every time. What is more, they will adopt the same tactics employed against them, and we are treated to the spectacle of combined capital against com-

This is the outcome which THE TIMES predicted long ago. It is a regrettable state of affairs, as it engenders and augments antagonisms that should not exist. Capital and labor ought work together, and without such cooperation neither can enjoy a full measure of prosperity We are not in favor of giving unlimited power to either side, for it is sure to be abused. But there ought to be some etter methods of adjusting disputes than the brutum fulmen of strikes and boycotts. The country and the people have outgrown such methods of force. If the spirit of trades-unionism were carried into all the affairs of life we should be relegated back to that condition of the dark ages when right was gauged simply by might. If we were thus arbitrary in politics we should set-tle our political differences with clubs and guns instead of by the ballot. Law civil government would become mockery.

A new kind of trades-unionism will soon grow up in this country, founded on due consideration for the rights of ooth capital and labor, appealing to friendly methods of arbitration for the settlement of disputes and casting out forever the un-American and almost uncivilized strike and boycott. And with the inauguration of the new era employers and employés will no longer be arrayed in hostile camps, but they will exercise consideration and forbearance toward each other, and both will enjoy enhanced prosperity.

Let Us Have Specifications ! For four days past the Los Angele Evening Express, edited by H. Z. Osborne, Collector of the Port of mington, has each day charged by inuendo, more or less direct, that THE Times has been or is being influenced by corrupt motives or connections in its course on the water question, now before the people for consideration that, in short, this journal has either accepted or is aiming to secure a corrupt reward to influence its position and utterances on this question.

This is a grave imputation on the part of the Evening Express.

Ordinarily THE TIMES would not decend to notice an inuendo, which is the coward's method of attack; but in the present case we depart from our estabished rule because the subject out of which this inuendo springs is one of grave concern to every citizen of Los Angeles, and they have the right to expect that those who come before them in any capacity, to offer advice, shall do so with good motives and clean hands. Therefore it is that we propose to answer to the public in this matter, in order to clear it up so far as THE TIMES s concerned.

The point has been reached where this thing will have to be settled.

This state of facts exists, namely: Mr. E. F. Spence, president of the First National Bank, controls, as owner or through power of attorney, one-fourth of the entire capital stock of the Los Angeles City Water Company and its associated corporations, his holdings representing a par value of more than $600,000. He is, we believe, a member of the board of directors, a member of the company's finance committee, and one of the five trustees for all the stockholders, authorized to sell their stock.

Mr. Spence is also a large creditor of H. Z. Osborne, the reputed responsible editor of the Evening Express, and is, besides, one of his bondsmen as Collector of the Port of Wilmington-Mr. Hervey Lindley being another of his bonds

Mr. Spence is in the position to know, and certainly does know, whether his company, or any of its officers or agents, acting in its and his interest and behalf, has paid, or offered to pay, or been asked to pay, any bribe of any kind, direct or indirect, to influence THE TIMES, or its editor or proprietors, or any person connected with THE TIMES in any authoritative capacity, or to influence any public official or other person.

If there be a bribe-taker, there mus be a bribe-giver; and, in the case in question, Mr. Spence must be guilty along with his associates if a bribe has been paid by the water company. Tt therefore becomes his duty, under the circumstances, to rise up and declare whether or not a bribe has been paid, offered or asked, and if so, by whom. So much is due to himself and his own associates in the water company. Let this matter be settled here and now! If he can satisfy the Evening Express of his innocence, that bribe-hinting and virtuous journal will not be compelled to expose him.

THE TIMES now calls upon Mr. E. F. Spence to stand up and answer! His testimony will settle the dispute. As for us, we are prepared for whatever truth may be brought out touching this "Let no guilty man escape!" journal.

AT THE PLAYHOUSES.

GRAND OPERAHOUSE .- The Mountebank is powerful melodrama, full of situations re-plete with pathos that tax a player's genius and that a careless or inefficient one would find it difficult to keep from becoming bathos. It is, in the hands of Fred Warde, stirring play, especially captivat that large clientele upstairs which fairly revels in the sharply accentuated points of the drama, which the chief actor revels points of the drama, which the chief actor brings out with great strength.

The scene in the second act where the mountebank comes in with the gaudy shawl he has bought with which to surprise his wife, and the tin kitchen, gingerbread man and doll for the little Louise, is so simply suggestive that the emotional person in the audience is apt to find use for his handkerchief ere a word has been spoken. It is a very strong scene that Mr. Warde and Miss Bowman as "Henri," the son of the buffoon, played with discretion, power and good taste last night. To our mind the play, is much better fitted to Mr. Warde's genius than the one given the previous genius than the one given the previous night, and, while there was not such a packed house out to greet him as there was twenty-four hours earlier, it was a warmly packed house out to greet him as there was twenty-four hours earlier, it was a warmly appreciative one, in no wise backward with its demonstrations of approval, and the curtain had to come up repeatedly at the end of every act.

It is essentially a star's play, which was extremely fortunate, as, barring a very few exceptions, his support was dull and commonplace to a degree. Miss Belgarde lacks too much in the one essential of appearance to make a satisfactory "Madeline." Miss Oliver, as "Mademoiselle Flora," was fairly good and quite outshone the leading lady. Mr. Young made an acceptable "Fanfaronade." Charles Herman, as "Lavernes," sustained the good impression made on the opening night, and Mr. Vining, as "Count de Blaugy," showed an easy stage presence and acted the part with grace, but spoke his lines much too fast for any but the most accurate ear to catch the drift of his end of the dialogue. As a whole, however, the play gave the well-filed house much pleasthe dialogue. As a whole, however, the play gave the well-filled house much pleas ure, for the play itself is full of genuine hu man interest and good honest emotion. Tonight Mr. Warde will be seen in the great drama of Richard III.

COMING ATTRACTION.—Superba, a spectacular trick pantomime which the famous Hanlon Brys. have been working on for many years, will be seen for the first time at the Grand Operahouse next week. The production is said to be something novel and beautiful and replete with all the characteristics that have made the Hanlons' fame. Like most pantomimes it has a romantic story for a foundation and the legends of fairyland have due prominence, but it is the comical situations, the fine mechanical effects and the chaborate change of scene that form the principal source of entertainment. The production is now having a big run in San Francisco, from which city it comes direct to Los Angeles. Its Policy Regarding the Church Ques-tion Formally Announced.

Paris, March 8.— By Cable and Associated Press.] At the opening session of the Chamber of Deputies today Prime Minister Loubet and other men bers of the new cabinet entered the Chamber and took their seats. Loubet immediately afterward ascended the tribune and read the declaration of ministerial policy.

He referred to the difficulties of the task the ministers had undertaken and said they relied upon the clearness of their declaration to enable the Chamber to say at the outset whether the minis to say at the outset whether the ministry was to expect the confidence of the House. The primary object of the ministerial policy, he said, was the defense of all laws of the republic, especially laws relative to the military, patriotism, equality and education. FOSTER IN LONDON.

He Visits the Commons and Talks Cau-tiously with Newspaper Men. LONDON, March 3.—[By Cable and As-ociated Press.] Minister Lincoln escorted Secretary of the Treasury Foster to the House of Commons today, where they listened to a debate. Mr. Foster will go to Brighton tomorrow and start for Paris Saturday.

In speaking of his visit to the Commons Mr. Foster said this evening that what struck him most was the hesitating way of speaking, in strong contrast with our direct and more carnest style. more earnest style. with our direct and more earnest style. Gladstone approached nearest to our American idea of a good speaker. Balfour and Labouchere also pleased him. Secretary Foster said he had been questioned frequently in regard to the report of the United States immigration commission. Referring to comments on the question of sending ex-convicts to America, he said these questions in Parliament were based on misaporehension of the report based on misapprehension of the report as a whole. The commission was not responsible for this. The story about the commissioners had its origin in Mr. the commissioners had its origin in Mr. Schulte's report. Here the mistake made in taking the statement that 22,000,000 acres of productive lands was lying idle here. Mr. Foster said he did not know where Mr. Powderly got this estimate. He would not say that Powderly's report had a partisan blas, but naturally he reported in behalf of those befeels with Congress, he said, will he feels with. Congress, he said, will be a good judge of the statement. The Secretary said he was gladto hear that the great shipping companies are ready to help the United States Government in efforts to correct abuses.

The Secretary was asked if he could say whether Goschen showed signs of agreeing to an international currency onference. He said his coming here had nothing to do with that. The United States would certainly assent to a conference on the basis of the declaration made by the English delegates at the Paris conference. When asked if he had not reason to know that Gos-chen wanted the Washington Govern-ment to take the initiative, and that he would accept America's invitation, Foster declined to say further than that the position of affairs wouldn't justify any statement. About France and Germany cooperating he was equally silent.

Washington Opinion as to the San Diego Controversy.

The Pacific Mail Company Must Abide by Its Contract.

Congressman Springer's Condition Considered Almost Hopeless.

rtant Testimony Given in the Raum Investigation-What the Bounty on Sugar Will Cost-Other Washington Matters.

By Telegraph to The Times.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—[By the Associated Press.] Second Assistant Postmaster-General Bell was asked today as to the facts concerning the reported conflict between the Postmaster-Gen-eral and Pacific Mail Company, as to whether or not the latter should receive passengers and mail at San Diego, Cal, in pursuance of its contract recently en-tered into under the act of March 3, 1891. Bell said that there had been no friction or even misunderstanding between the company and department upon the subject. He knew that there was an impression prevail-ing among some citizens of San Diego that because of prior arrangements with the Southern Pacific Railroad Company and the Pacific Coast Steamwith the Southern Pacine Railroad Company and the Pacific Coast Steamship Company the Pacific Mail Company intends to avoid, if possible, doing any passenger or freight business between San Diego and the ports south of it. Bell expressed the belief that the steamship company had no such intention and expected and desired fully to carry out its contract with the Government, both in letter and spirit. The company had, however, intimated that it would be extremely difficult at times to make San Diego harbor and had inquired what action would be taken by the department in case of failure because of stress of weather. The department declined to answer this hypothetical question and informed the company that they were expected to fully comply ical question and informed the company that they were expected to fully comply with the terms of the contract.

Bell was asked whether it would be deemed a violation of the contract if vessels of the company should not go up to the San Diego dock, but deliver and receive mail by means of lighters. In reply he said that the spirit of the act reply he said that the spirit of the act under which their contracts were made undoubtedly carries with it an obligation to promote commerce, and this includes all business incidental to a steamship line running for freight and passengers, and therefore the company's vessels were expected to go to the wharf and regularly receive freight and passengers. Failures to do this, Bell said, would be followed by deductions and fines, and if it appears that these omissions or failures were wilful, he did not believe the Postmaster-General would hesitate to annul the contract. hesitate to annul the contract

Bell, however, desired it distinctly understood that the company had in no way indicated any purpose or desire other than to carry out the contract in letter and spirit.

SPRINGER VERY ILL.

The Congressman's Recovery Scarcely Expected by His Physicians, WASHINGTON, March 8.—[By the Associated Press.] The condition of Congressman Springer, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, was so serious today as to excite the gravest apprehensions of his friends. His family and most intimate friends are evidently prepared for the worst, as there is fear that erysipelas, heretofore confined to the face, has gone to the brain. His physicians concede that this being the case the result is almost inevitably fatal. Dr. Vincent of Springfield, Ill., the old family physician of Springer, has been telegraphed for at the request of the patient, and with the approval of the patient, and with the approval of the attending physicians in this city. While Springer's family have the greatest confidence in the attending physicians, they hope that the presence of Dr. Vincent, who is an old friend, as well as a skillful physician, may buoy up the patient and help him to battle against the virulence of the disease. This view is shared by Drs. Curtis and Verdi. During most of the time Springer is conscious, and, although suffering most intense pain day and night, is fully apprised of the gravity of his condition.

of his condition. At midnight Congressman Springer's condition is unchanged. That he is no worse gives renewed hope to his friends, the nature of the malady being such that every hour in which he suc-ceeds in battling away death means that he is gaining over the disease. Learning from the bedside watchers Learning from the bedside watchers that an Associated Press representative was in the house, he requested that he be admitted to the sick-room, and said to him, after grasping his hand: "I am no worse tonight, and believe I am going to get a fresh hold. If I can just keep down this cough, which is stifling me, I'm all right."

Further conversation was stopped by the recurrence of a fit of nervous coughing, which convulsed the sick man's frame in agony. The attendant physicians believe that if no change for the worse takes place before noon there will be reason to hope for his re-covery. Inability to sleep and the nervous desire of the patient to talk to any one within reach are regarded as but indications of the harassed and restrepose the greatest menace to his life.

As long as the sick man converses with those around he is perfectly conscious and coherent in his speech, but as soon as the conversation dies out, or he is enjoined to silence, he rapidly drifts into delirium, talking at random or of pending legislation in the House.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—[By the Assoiated Press.] Assistant Secretary Bus sey, of the Interior Department, to is given the supervision of mat ters relating to the Pension Bureau stified today before the special Pension Investigating Committee of the

He said that Secretary Noble told him he thought the good of the office demanded Taylor's resignation. The Secretary told witness he thought Taylor was furnishing matter to newspapers. Bussey said he thought one or two other persons were dismissed from the Pension Office on the ground that they were furnishing matter to the newspapers. Witness told Mr. Enloe that he never the fore today heard that young Raum, when appointed clerk, collected a notary fee of 25 cents from each person appointed and promoted in the Pension Office and he did not know that it was a fact that Congress had passed a law prohibiting that practice.

The subject of rerating pensions and making their rerating claims date back to the time of the original disability was then taken up. Bussey said that He said that Secretary Noble told him while looking up the pension laws, after becoming an office-holder, he ascertained that the statutes prohibited rerating dating further back than the medical examination on which the rerating was allowed. An investigation followed and it was found that the pensions of a number of employes of the Pension Office were being refated.

Bussey said that the practice was in violation of the departmental decisions and in violation of the law. The practice had been stopped and he defied any man to show a case rerated in violation of law under Commissioner Raum's administration. Under Gen. Black 1700 rerated cases were found and under Tanner 1300 cases.

The witness had estimated that if the reratings were generally followed they would cost $800,000,000.

Mr. Payson asked about the reports in circulation as to the circumstances connected with the rerating of Powell, an Illinois politican, by Commissioner Black. Mr. Dungan of Ohio asked: "Was that Gen. W. H. Powell, Secretary Noble's candidate for Commissioner of Pensions?"

Mr. Payson said: "This years thing."

Mr. Payson said: "This very thing, when attention was called to it, was what knocked him out."
Mr. Dungan asked if Secretary Noble had by letter requested Black to favorably consider Powell's case. Mr. Bussey could not state.
Mr. Enloe asked how it was that Gen. F. W. Dudley had been rerated without the facts appearing on the record.

F. W. Dudley had been rerated without the facts appearing on the record.

Mr. Bussey said that Dudley was legally rerated under the act increasing pensions for loss of a leg at the knee joint. The rerating did not go back to the date of disability, but to 1886, the date of the act increasing the pension. Why the record did not show the rerating he did not know unless because the claim was for a specific disability.

He did not see how the practice could be stopped except by law. Mr. Bussey believed that Commissioner Raum managed the office with efficiency and in-

Mr. Enloe inquired if Mr. Bussey approved the practice of giving pensions to persons of means.

Mr. Bussey replied in the negative and said it was prohibited by a recent law. Mr. Enloe instanced one case in which an Ohio woman worth $30,000 was getting a pension.

Mr. Bussey reglied that his office was constantly investigating such violations of the law. vestigating such violations of the law.

mittee of the House Committee on Pensions today examined Commissioner Raum with reference to estimes for pension appropriations for the next fiscal year. The Commissioner said that last sion appropriations for the next fiscal year. The Commissioner said that last year $1,880,000 had been spent for medical examinations and this year $1,500,000 would be spent, which would bring that work up to date. The actual amount of money expended on account of pensions during the first six months of the year was $68,065,678. About $43,000,000 is on hand for the remainder of the fiscal year.

Jimmy Lawson Easily Disposed of by Billy Maber.

The Colored Light-weight No Match fo the Australian Champion-Maber's Hand Broken in the First Round.

In spite of the efforts of some of the working members of the Pastime Athletic Club to increase the popularity of that organization by matching two of the cleverest men that have visited this city for some time past, not over 200 lovers of pugilism assembled in the gymnasium of that institution last night to witness the fight between Billy Maber, the Australian champion, and Jimmy Lawson, the colored light-weight from the kangaroo country.

The result proved that the latter, clever as he undoubtedly is, was completely outmatched, as Maber, in spite of the fact that he broke a bone in his left hand in the first round, easily dis-of the fact that he broke a bone in his left hand in the first round, easily disposed of his opponent in six rounds without receiving a scratch.

There were several preliminary settos, of a more or less interesting nature, but it was evident that the spectators were much relieved when the last couple left the ring to make way for the event of the evening.

Lawson, who was attended by Billy Shannon and William Child, entered the ring at 9:30 o'clock, and a few minutes later Maber put in an appearance and took up his position near the reporters' bench. He was attended by Purcell and Manning. After the men had been introduced by Referee Mort Carran, the time-keepers compared watches for a few minutes, and the spectators were afforded a chance of comparing the two men. Lawson was splendidly muscled, but appeared to be a little paunchy, while "Shadow" Maber, although "fit as a fiddle," was as "thin as a pikestaff." Both were apparently confident, but Lawson evidently did not know his man. Time was called at 9:45 o'clock. Fourounce gloves were used.

THE ITATA LIBELS.

Both Cases Dismissed by Judge Ross.

A Decision Reviewing the Facts at Considerable Length.

The Vessel Did Not Violate the Neutrality Laws.

Counsel for the Government at Once Gave Notice and Will Take an Appeal as Soon as Possible.

In the United States District Court yesterday morning Judge Ross rendered his decision in the libel suits filed against the steamship Itata, her tackle, apparel and furniture, and the 2000 cases of rifles and ammunition, the shipment of which caused the whole trouble, ordering that both cases be dismissed in accordance with the following opinion filed therein:

opinion filed therein:

THE OPINION,

These cases were tried and submitted together upon the evidence introduced in the case of the United States vs. Trumbuil et al. (No. 242.) so far as the same is applicable, and upon certain additional depositions. The additional testimony does not alter the facts shown in the Trumbuil case further than that it shows that the Itata, before leaving Chile for California, discharged the four small cannon, together with the ammunition therefor, the had theretofore carried, and that the soldiers she took on leaving Chile for California, discharged the four small cannon, together with the ammunition therefor, she had theretofore carried, and that the soldiers she took on board did not exceed twelve in number and were taken on board not to be used as soldiers but for passing coal and as stokers. It further shows that when the Itata came into the waters of the United States she had on board less than her usual complement of men and but one small brass gun, used as a signal gun, eight or ten old muskets and one small fron gun for which there was no ammunition. The additional depositions, which include the testimony of two of the officers of the United States cruiser Charleston, still more clearly shows what was before made sufficiently apparent, that in no just sense could the Itata be regarded as a ship of war at the time she came within the waters of the United States, or at any time while she remained within those waters. My views in respect to the case are sufficiently stated in the opinion delivered in the Trumbull case, and reported in the Federal Reporter of December 22, 1891 (p. 99.) to which I adhere. It is enough now to state the facts I find from the evidence in the present case, together with the legal conclusions, which are as follows:

In January of 1891 the steamship Itata was an ordinary merchant vessel. Early in that month she was captured in the harbor of Valparatso, Chile, by the people then known as the Congressional party, and who were then engaged in an effort to overthrow the then established and recognized was the head. The Itata was by the Congressional party put in command of one of its officers and was used in their undertaking as a transport to convey troops, provisions and munitions of war, and also as its omcers and was used in their undertaring as a transport to convey troops, provisions and munitions of war, and also as a hospital ship and one in which to confine prisoners. Four small cannon were also put upon her decks, and she carried a tack and avanual. Some time prior to the also put upon her decea, and she extrem a jack and pennant. Some time prior to the following April one Trumbull came to the United States as an agent of the Congres-sional party and about the month of April went to the city of New York and there bought from one of the large mercantile firms of that city dealing in such matters 5000 rifles and 2,000,000 cartridges bought from one of the large mercantile firms of that city dealing in such matters 5000 rides and 2.000.000 cartridges therefor, with the intention and for the purpose of sending them to the Congressional party in Chile to use in their effort to overthrow the Balmacedan government. The sale and purchase of the arms and ammunitian was made in the usual course of trade. Trumbuil caused them to be shipped by rail to San Francisco and engaged one Burt to accompany them, which he did. Arrangements had been made by Trumbuil with his principals in Chile by which they were to send a vessel to the United States to get the arms and ammunition and convey them to Chile for the use of the Congressional party there. The Itata was dispatched by that party for that purpose, and was accompanied as far as Cape San Lucas by the Essmeralda, a warship then in the service of the Congressional party. Before leaving Chile the Itata discharged the four small cannon, with the ammunition therefor, that she had theretofore carried, but she retained one small brass gun, which she had always carried and used as a signal gun, and also eight or ten old muskets and one small iron cannon, for which there was no ammunition. At one of the Cnilean ports the Itata took on board some soldiers, with their arms, not exceeding twelve in number; but they were taken not to be used as soldiers, but for passing coal and asstokers. At San Lucas the captain of the Esmeralda took command of the Esmeralda. The Itata then proceeded to San Diego, really in command of the Esmeralda. TWO SMOOTH SHARPERS.

The Town Worked for All It Was Worth.

Shady Operations of Julius Ascher and Bernhard Loewy.

Their Friends Victimized Out of Several Thousand Dollars.

The Crayon Picture Fake and the Servant Girl Racket - Made Love to Women Only to Rob Them.

During the past few days the German citizens have been considerably worked up over the sudden disappearance of Julius Ascher and Bernhard Loewy Both men have been flying high for some time past, and through their polished manners and insinuating ways they managed to get into the best German society and were two of the most popular young men in the city.

They have turned out to be smooth "fakirs," however, and a number of their victims are now anxious to have them brought back and punished, but up to date no warrants have been issued for the arrest of the sharpers.

The extent of their rascality is not known at present, but new victims are popping up daily and as near as can be learned the fellows did up their inti-mate friends to the tune of about $1500, and the public at large lost through their shady transactions to the extent of several thousand dollars, while a number of servant girls all over the city were victimized.

As the operations of these sharpers date back several months, it will be necessary to give a brief history of their residence in Los Angeles.

Loewy came to this city a number of years ago and opened up business as agent and manager of the Enterprise Soap Company. He had his headquarters on Fifth street between Main and Spring streets and soon worked up a Spring streets, and soon worked up a large business. He was quite a society man, and was looked on by the Germans as one of the solid business men of the city.

Six months ago Ascher purchased a half interest in Loewy's soap business.
Ascher is one of the noted German ac-Ascher is one of the noted German actors, and for a long time he stood at the head of the German comedians in Germany, and was a big drawing card in all the big cities. A few years ago he came to the United States, and has played in almost every large city in the German theaters.

Soon after his arrival here he organized a company of German profession.

soon after his arrival here he organized a company of German professionals and amateurs, and he and his partner arranged to give a series of eighteen Sunday night performances. They gave two and found that it did not pay, so the contract was broken and the company paid off and discharged.

They continued in the same business

They continued in the soap business until the 1st of last January, when they closed up their business and began to work up the old crayon picture fake.

They got a lot of fine samples from a Chicago picture firm which they claimed to represent on this Coast, and in a few days they had solicitors all over town. They took orders for lifesized pictures in fine frames at the rate of $7 apiece.

With every order the victim was called on to put up $8.50. It is needless to say that hundreds of orders were taken, but only a few were filled. The new firm never intended to fill them when new firm never intended to fill them when the orders were taken. As both were looked upon as honorable men they had no trouble in collecting money on all orders, as they worked principally among their friends, and it is said that dozens of victims are scattered over the

It is now believed that when couple gave up the soap trade on the first of the year they decided to work the town for all it was worth and leave for parts unknown, and they have been successful.

Not only did they work the picture fake, but they borrowed money right and left, and buncoed their friends and left, and buncoed their friends every chance they got. They would borrow $25 from a friend and promise to return it on a certain day, and, sure enough, when the time came, the money was forthcoming, but this was done simply to gain the confidence of the intended victim. In a few days after the first loan had been paid one of the fakirs would call around and borrow $50 or $100. In this way they succeeded in rounding up their confiding friends to the extent of several hundred dollars. dollars.

Loewy, who is quite a handsome fel-low, had a servant girl scheme that he worked when not operating on bigger fish. He would get acquainted with a servant girl, make love to her, and become engaged to her. As soon as he had gained her confidence he would put had gained her confidence he would put up a pitiful story to the effect that he was in trouble, and must have a large sum of money at once. The poor girl would get together her hard-earned pennies and turn them over to the rascal. In this way he succeeded in getting several hundred dollars in sums of from $25 to $50. It is hard to tell how many servant girls he is engaged to in this city, but they are not the only ones in the same boat, for several rich widows fell before his winning ways, and are out of pocket to a conways, and are out of pocket to a con-siderable extent.

In one case he not only won a widow' heart, but, when she informed him with tears in her pretty eyes that she had no ready cash and could not borrow it on her little home, he coolly informed her that he had a friend who would let her have money on her house and lot. He went to Lokowitz, the money-lender, and negotiated a loan of $400 for the widow, and as soon as the money was paid into her hands he borrowed $200 of it and carried it off.

A young fellow named Wild came down from San Francisco to look for work. He had $100 and as soon as he heart, but, when she informed him with

A few days before they skipped they ordered a couple of suits made at Bellman's, which they got and never paid for. They got Charles Schallkoff, the barber, to indorse their note for $25, and they borrowed $10 in cash from him.

E. C. Schnaubel let them have $50 in cash and went on several notes, which he will have to pay. A couple of days cash and went on several notes, which he will have to pay. A couple of days before leaving they visited several cigar stores and purchased boxes of cigars. The day they left they sold their horse and buggy for $15, which shows that they were in a hurry to get out of town for some reason.

Ascher, who has a fine stage wardrobe, shipped it to St. Louis, Mo., over the Santa Fé, and their trunks were also shipped to that place.

Remarks Pertaining to the Treatment of Consumption

As Applicable to the Proposed Public Hospital.

Terminal Railroad Magnates Inspect the Altadena Line.

The Local News Briefly Summed Up-Personal Items of Interest-Progress in the Sewer Matter-Brevitles.

[Branch office, No. 50 East Colorado street, where news, advertisements and orders for THE TIMES are received.]

The recent rich discoveries of Drs. Pas teur and Koch upon the subject of tuber-culosis have given fresh impetus to the theme, and public interest naturally is at-tracted to this subject, especially in Pasa-dena, where so many people come to find relief from pulmonary troubles and where a public hospital is soon to be established for the special benefit of this class of pa-

The experience of the medical faculty who have made consumption a study has shown that nowhere can the necessary daily regulations of the patient's life and habits be so successfully carried out as in a hospital, and the most favorable results in combating the disease have been obtained in institutions devoted to this special purpose. Although this has been a well-known fact for some years, yet the question of establishing special hospitals for the treatment of consumption has not until recently attracted any attention in this country, owing, probably, to a popular notion that consumption of the lungs is incurable. Medical men, however, now say that there is a period in the history of most cases of consumption when the incipient disease may be arrested and health recovered. To attain this end a patient must give up any occupation, the mind must be relieved of all care, and proper medical treatment administered before the opportunity for improvement passes. hospital, and the most favorable results in all care, and proper medical treatment administered before the opportunity for improvement passes.

As the disease now exists in this country, it is most destructive of all the ills that flesh is heir to. About 100,000 persons die yearly of consumption in the United States, and for each one who dies in any year three linger over. In Germany and Great Britain consumptive hospitals have been in operation for some time past, and in almost every country but our own numerous hospitals devoted especially to this class of patients have long been established. A careful study of the mortality returns in England during the past forty years, since such institutions have been in operation, warrants the conclusion that there has been a reduction in the mortality from tuberculosis during that time of at least 50 per cent, and that whafever reduction there has been in the general mortality is largely due to the reduction in the mortality from tuberculosis. It is also stated that the reduction in mortality from consumption in England is in direct ratio to the increase in the special hospitals for the treatment of the disease has occurred in any country where special hospitals for the treatment of the disease hospitals for the treatment of the disease have not existed.

These facts forcibly illustrate Pasadena's possibilities in this direction. The town is recognized not only as a most beautiful residence place and as the fruit and agricultural center of this section, but as a health resort as well, especially for those whose lungs are more or less affected. The far-reaching effects of a hospital, where for a nominal sum patients in indigent circumstances can receive the best of medical treatment, will be felt all over the country, and this philanthropic move on the part of some of the representative citizens will receive its due reward.

At the regular session of the City Trus-tees Wednesday evening a petition was re-ceived from the Y.M.C.A. asking that Ca-jon street between the intersection of Orange street and Citrus avenue be closed, By crossing the corner of the block diago-nally a triangular piece of land of about 1-15 or less of an acre, lying between Cajon By crossing the corner of the block diagonally a triangular piece of land of about 1-15 or less of an acre, lying between Cajon and Orange streets and Citrus avenne, is left, which had been deeded to the city by Mr. Judson for the placing of a public fountain. The Methodist Episcopal Charch people own the property abutting on Cajon street on the southwest and agree to the closing of the street. The proposition of the Y.M.C.A. is to have the street closed and then purchase the ground from the city and erect thereon a fine building with business offices on the first floor and the Y.M.C.A. rooms above. Should the project be successful it will give a fine block at the southern end of the business portion of the city as now constituted, but will do, away with the small open square upon which it was proposed to erect a public fountain.

The Santa Fé people presented a remonstrance against the city granting a franchise to the Southern Pacific giving this road the right-of-way through Park avenue. The remonstrance was tabled and the ordinance granting the franchise taken up and passed by an unanimous vote. This gives the Southern Pacific all that has been asked of the city.

Property owners along the south side of Citrus avenue presented to the city deeds to ten feet off the front of their property for the purpose of widening the street and the deeds were accepted by the city. Ford refused to deed the necessary ten feet from his property, as his is the corner lot and it would take a frontage of ten feet from Orange street as well as a depth of ten feet from the Citrus avenue front. This is in the most valuable location and Mr. Ford asks that he be paid some compensation, covering at least a part of the value of the Orange street frontage. The request is a reasonable one and should be granted.

A GREAT RACE.

There is a great deal of talk here among There is a great deal of talk here among horsemen of the prospective race between Silkwood, the pride of Orange county, and Charles Durfee's McKinney, of Los Angeles county. So far the owners of both horses have issued challenges, but neither have been accepted. Mr. Willits, the owner of Silkwood, is in the East, but will be home in about ten days, and then arrangements will probably be made between the two dyers. McKinney holds the world's two-year-old stallion trotting record, and has many admirers in this county. Silkwood has never made a big public record, but there are a great many horsemen in the county who think he can race a mile in much less time than he ever has done yet in public.

If the race is made between these two horses it will be the greatest event in sporting circles in the history of the county. Silkwood is near the hearts of the people of Orange county, and great is the faith many of them repose in him as to his abil.

REV. BEN OLIEL. Statement Regarding His Demand for a Burlal Fee.

on Tuesday morning last The Times published in its San Bernardino news an item to the effect that Rev. Ben Oliel, the Episcopal minister at that place, had called on a bereaved family and presented a bill of $20 for officiating at a funeral, and that when the amount was not paid wrote a threatening letter and also referred to the mat-

Late Wednesday night a letter was re-ceived from Rev. Ben Oliel, containing the following:

You will see by my letter in today's Courier within that the paragraph in your issue of yesterday reflecting on myself is a malicious fabrication from end to end. The only truth in it is that I performed the burial service of my church on a lady who was a perfect stranger to me at the request of her husband, who is not a member of my church; that my services have never been acknowledged in the customary way, and that I have been grossly insuited and falsely maligned by the friends of the lady I buried.

The letter referred to is a column and the following:

The letter referred to is a column and a half in length and is devoted princi-pally to the editor of the Kaleidoscope, a San Bernardino newspaper, with whom the reverend gentleman seems to have some personal contro-versy, judging from the tone of the communication. After giving in detail the circumstances connected with the versy, judging from the tone of the communication. After giving in detail the circumstances connected with the burial, and denying that he asked for his fee when he called afterward to pay the usual visit of condolence, explaining, however, that the head of the family was out at the time, Mr. Ben Oliel continues:

It is simply untrue that I asked my fee on that occasion; but when two or three days passed and Mr. Waters did not himself call on me, I did, on a second visit, when again I found him out, leave word that I wished to see him about my fee. Subsequently I saw Mr. Waters at his office. He asked me what the usual fee was. I told him there was no fixed fee in this country, but every one gave what he thought proper. (In England minimum fees are fixed by law and recoverable at court.) Mr. Waters urged me again to tell him what was a proper fee. I then told him that at a funeral similar to that of Mrs. Waters the fee placed in my hand was a gold plece of $20. He then said: "Call tomorrow and I will fix it up with you," and we parted friends. But when I called on him next day he received me at the door of his office with a perfect volley of abnse; he said he was not going to give me any fee; that my church was only for the purpose of getting money and that his wife would have been better off had she not been buried by me, and more to the same effect. Ministers of religion, who read this statement, will understand my amazement and indignation. Not only was I insuited personally, but my whole church, too, and this for what! Simply for obliging Mr. Waters by calling on him again at the time when he said he would have the fee ready. It is not usual to ask clergy to call in this fashion.

Had he told me the first time he did not mean to pay me any fee I should, not have called on him again, and there would have been an end to the matter; but to tell me to call again and then to abuse me is a little too bad.

I went home very much hurt and wrote Mr. Waters a letter, in which I said: "I to call again and then to abuse me is a little too bad.

I went home very much hurt and wrote Mr. Waters a letter, in which I said: "I shall be compelled to take legal proceedings against you to try the question whether in this civilized and progressive country a person calling himself a gentleman can be permitted to insult a minister of religion, whom he called in to bury his wife, for reminding him that he had omitted to pay him the usual fee at the time of the funeral, unless you apologize for the insult you so gratuitously offered me and the church to which I belong and to your own wife's memory."

church to which I belong and to your own wife's memory."

Mr. Waters did not apologize or pay my fee, and I soon forgot the insult and said no more: and if Mr. Waters had offered me his hand next time I met him he would have found I retained no ill-will toward

A letter has also been received from Clarence M. Mylrea, senior warden of Rev, Mr. Ben Oliel's church, in which the gentleman refers also to the Courier letter from which the extract above is published, and which all parties agree gives Mr. Ben Oliel's side of the con-

no County's Fine Display—It Principal Features in Detail-Every Tarlety of Citrus Fruit

At an early hour yesterday people be gan to gather at the pavilion to see by daylight the great display of cit-rus fruits. The crowd gradually in-creased as the day wore away, and by the time the orchestra struck up the first number of the matinée programme there were hundreds of people promenading the floors or seated in the gallery, where the best general view of the exhibit is to be had.

It is a notable fact that nearly all the visitors are Eastern people. The Los Angeles citizens are "not in it" so far as patronage goes. The entrance re-ceipts show this, for the money boxes are filled with greenbacks, and many of the "tenderfeet" object seriously to accepting silver dollars in exchange for

First Come, First Served.

Cepting silver dollars in exchange for their down-East currency.

Last evening both galleries were packed and it was with difficulty that one could move about on the main floor on account of the crowd, and yet in all the throng the number of Los Angeles citizens could almost be counted on the fingers. A Los Angeles banker, who has been a resident of the city for more than twenty years, remarked this fact to a Times reporter last night. "Why," he said, "our people are not represented at all. The crowd is made up entirely of tourists."

The citrus fair will have at least brought out the fact that Los Angeles banker, who has been a resident of the city for more than twenty years, remarked this fact to a Times reporter last night. "Why," he said, "our people are not represented at all. The crowd is made up entirely of tourists."

any time since the boom and they are more than delighted with the exhibit. One hears such expressions as "wonder-ful," "marvelous," "the most remark-abte display I ever saw," on all sides as the visitors crowd about the tables of fruit and gaze in awe-struck wonder at the designs. Some of the displays were not quite completed on the opening night and several improvements are Riverside has put up a most attractive sign in the shape of an arch fringed with electric drop lights and bearing the word "Riverside" in gilded letters. Below the arch is a panel on which is Below the arch is a panel on which is inscribed in golden type: "The greatest orange-growing district in the world." This is suspended above the great platform just back of the big lemon. Riverside has twenty-three varieties of oranges in her exhibit, which covers 1800 feet. One side of the platform and pedestal is faced solidly with and pedestal is faced solidly with lemons, mounds and pyramids rising from the main surface. On the opposite side the year "1892" is worked out in lemons, and a star of lemons is sunk in the background of oranges. She has seventy-five boxes of navel oranges in her design, to say nothing of the table display, which is under the gallery. Here J. S. Castleman has nineteen varieties of oranges tastefully arranged in pyramids on a background of ivy, and adjoining this a display of lemons and a magnificent raised figure of seedless oranges. F. H. Edwards also has twenty boxes of navel oranges arranged in mounds and J. W. Roberts shows half a dozen varieties of oranges and an immense terrace of lemons in which is sunk a pair of orange stars. Upstairs W. H. Backus has a table of twenty boxes of Washington Navels and a splendid display of raisins in boxes. A pyramid covered with raisins on stems rises from the center of the table.

VENTURA'S PREMIUM.

Ventura is rejoicing in the fact that she has received the fourth county premium for the best display of citrus fruits, and this is her maiden effort too. The grove of papyrus which waves its feathery plumes from the center of the platform over the fruit adds much to the attractiveness of her display, as well as the collection of flowers which decorate the platform. Yesterday Mrs. Shepherd of Ventura, who kindly furnished all these decorations, sent down a quantity of boutonieres of choice flowers for free distribution. N. W. Blanchard of Santa Paula has an exhibit which occupies one side of the platform. Mr. Blanchard has the largest lemon orchard in the State and shows magnificent specimens of Lisbon, Euraka and Genoa varieties. He has VENTURA'S PREMIUM

From Camulos there are five varieties of almonds, some photographs of the Camulos ranch house and views of the home of "Ramona," Helen Hunt Jackson's heroine, which are arranged in panels and framed in almonds and oranges. Mrs. Shepherd has a display of cacti, comprising 125 plants of seventy varieties. One of them, a twelve-year-old fish-hook cactus, is the largest of its kind in the State.

There are also some fine raisins from Cyrus Kenney's Sespe ranch, and, altogether, Ventura has one of the most interesting exhibits at the fair.

SAN BERNARDINO COUNTY'S DISPLAY. The Largest Exhibit in the Hall-Principal Features in Detail.

San Bernardino county takes up a larger space than any other section a the fair, occupying the entire east side of the hall. This is only proper, considering the commanding position which orange-growing county of California the county in which this branch of hor ticulture was first developed on a scien tific basis, and the county which gave to the world the peerless Washington Navel—the king of oranges. Nor has San Bernardino county fallen off in its energy with years. Hon. Stephen M. White, in his speech on the opening night, referred to the remarkable fact that during 1891 the planting of orange trees in the county equaled in area 50 per cent. of all the orange trees growing there up to the end of the previous year. The exact figures are as follows: Acreage in oranges end of lows: Acreage in oranges end of 1890, 13,070; acreage end of 1891, 19,678, an increase for the year of 6608 acres. The number of bearing orange trees in San Bernardino county, according to the latest report of the State Board of Horticulture, was 891,686, and of trees not yet bearing 1,895,544. The total not yet bearing 1,895,544. The total acreage in lemons in the county, end of 1891, was 786, of which 850 acres—again nearly half—had been planted during that year. This gives some idea of what the product of the county will be within a few years.

The sections of the county exhibiting are Riverside, Redlands, Colton, Ontario, Highlands and Rialto. Besides these there are several individual exhibits.

Riverside, the pioneer of orange growing on a commercial scale in Cali growing on a commercial scale in California, naturally comes first. Its exhibit is large and approaches perfection, both from an asthetic and a horticultural point of view, while, at the same time, fanciful arrangement has not been allowed to predominate over a practical display of the good points of fine fruit. There is no towering building, but a large table covered with ine fruit. There is no towering building, but a large table covered with fruit most tastefully arranged, the colors of which blend harmoniously, the whole crowned by a gigantic lemon composed of hundreds of fine lemons. One of the first things which strikes the horticulturist in this display is the high color of the Riverside fruit, a peculiarity of this section.

Riverside abstained from exhibiting Riverside abstained from exhibiting last year. The good people of that place had the idea that their reputation was so well established that the expense of an exhibit would be a superfluous luxiry to them. They found their mistake, however, and have since admitted it and regretted it. Thousands of people then learned for the first time that fine oranges can be grown in other sections as well as Riverside. Competition in orange-growing sections is now tition in orange-growing sections is now keen and those who wish to keep in the swim must not sleep by the way. How-ever, this time Riverside has put her best foot foremost and will regain what-over prestige she may have lost last

A legend over the Riverside table announces that it is the "Greatest Orangegrowing District in the World." With "America" substituted for "World" this would doubtless be accurate. One of the noteworthy features of the display is an exhibit of Ruby Blood oranges. This orange has a deep, russet red skin, contrasting to a marked degree with that of the pale yellow St. Michaels, which lie alongside it. The flesh is of the color of clotted blood, far darker than that of any blood oranges ever seen in this market. The tree was imported from Florida a short time ago and has recently been developed in Riverside, where it has become very popular. It is not alone in the extra deep color of the flesh that it differs from the Malta Blood. It is said to be an early and a very heavy yielder, bearing as heavily as a seedling, and that it resists frost well. It is a moderately late variety. No wonder, therefore, that this peculiar orange has become popular. This leads to the inquiry whether the coming orange will be a red one. A legend over the Riverside table an come popular. This leads to the in-quiry whether the coming orange will

J. S. Castleman has an individual exhibit from Riverside, which is remarkable as being the finest individual exhibit in the hall. In fact, it is finer than several of the sectional exhibits. He has a large quantity of superior seedling oranges and half a dozen varieties of handsome budded fruit. The Handy is another variety of fruit. The Handy is another variety of blood orange, which originated in Riva-erside. In color of flesh it stands half way between the Malta and the Ruby.

way between the Malta and the Ruby. Another new variety is the Majorca, a vigorous grower. The Jaffa, a rough-skinned variety, of which much has been heard of late, is not recommended by Mr. Castleman. The King, a Chinese variety, with a skin covered with large warty excresences, belongs to the Tangerine family, having a skin that peels off easily. The Tardiff is a pale-skinned orange, practically identical with the Valencia. Its peculiarity is that it is very late and this has led it to become popular,

Its peculiarity is that it is very late and this has led it to become popular, especially since the recent frost, which late oranges escape. It makes a standard tree larger than most other budded varieties, is thornless and a prolific bearer. The fruit hangs to the tree tenaciously. For fine eating qualities this orange has few equals.

Mr. Castleman has twenty-four acres ant. Casteman has venty-ion acres in oranges, his oldest trees being 20 years of age, and half the remainder 18 years old. He shows also some fine Lisbon lemons.

Redlands appears to run largely to architectural structures. Last year it had the Bear Valley dam, and this year it shows a towering building, representing a "proposed" depot—which reminds one of the boom. It has a good display of oranges, mostly navels, with some Mediterranean Sweets and Malta Blodds. There is also a fine display of dried fruit. Redlands has 1875 acres in oranges. Rialto and Highlands—neighbors of Redlands—have adjoining exhibits. The former—"aged 3"—shows excellent oranges and Lisbon lemons, and the latter makes a handsome representation of the kite-shaped track, made celebrated by "The Times Flyer," the design being worked out in oranges and lemons. These sections—Redlands, Highland, Riaito and Mentone, which latter is not represented at the fair—are at present regarded as the creme de la creme of the orange-growing sections of Southern California. The land, being higher, is freer from frost than Riverside, and even higher prices are obtained for unimproved land than in the justly celebrated Riverside region. Rialto has about 1500 acres in oranges.

exhibit, including nine varieties of budded fruit, prominent among which are navels and ruby bloods. He has a sample of the kumquat, a small, lemonshaped orange, about the size of an average plum. It comes from Florida and is said to be very fine-for preserves, for which purpose skin and all are used. There is also the grape truit, looking like a smooth, pale-yellow orange, swollen to four times the natural size. Its taste is bitterish-sour and is, like the tomato, an acquired one, but the fruit is becoming very popular in the East. The Florida growers are making money out of it and many orchards are being planted. Two specimens are shown by Mr. Edwards, one a seedling, from Florida, and the other budded, from Riverside, the latter being superior.

AYRES ON THE STAND.

Defendant's Version of the Baldwin Deal.

He Denies That He Ever Conspired to Rob Baldwin.

Number of Other Witnesses Examined for the Defense.

Two of Them Under Indictment for th Same Offense with Which Ayres is Charged-General Court News -New Suits.

In Department Five, yesterday morn ing, the trial of Lyman Ayres, one of the real estate men charged with having obtained property from H. S. Baldwin, by means of false pretenses, was resumed before Judge Shaw and a jury in the presence of a large number of apparently interested spectators.

The prosecution called G. I. Cochran and John Milner and recalled Ed L. Baker and E. S. Galbraith for the pur pose of filling in little breaks in the chain of evidence linked together on the two preceding days, and then rested

The defense then called as its first witness, J. M. Voss, an attorney, who was examined as to certain details concerning the transaction, but which he was not allowed to testify to, as it was had been made. Charles L. Eager, a real estate dealer from the East Side, was then called and examined for the purpose of showing that he knew there was such a person as J. W. Dunn: but on cross-examina tion he stated that although he had been introduced to such a person some time last spring he did not know that that Attorney W. H. Shinn then took the stand and testified to the effect that shortly after the exchange of the land H. S. Baldwin went to his office, with the defendant Ayres, and inquired about the quality of the land near Anaheim and the title thereto, stating that Ayres had told him that he (Shinn) had owned the entire tract at one time. The wit-ness then detailed the conversation they had had on that occasion.

H. E. Cornwell, a notary public, testified to having met J. W. Dunn in April last and seen him occasionally since, On cross-examination he said that Dunn had been introduced to him by E. W. Gilbert, a real estate man, but he did not know whether the man's real name was Dunn or not. He had never seen him with the defendant. E. H. Boyd, one of the men under indictment for the same offense, was then called, but beyond the statement that, although he had known Ayers for four years, he had never had any business relations with him, he refused to testify, claiming that, his attorneys being ab-sent, he was afraid he might incrimi-nate himself by so doing. The witness exhibited considerable nervousness and embarrassment while upon the stand, and his demeanor was not calculated to impress the jury very favorably.

He was followed by C. E. Norton, another of the defendants in the case, a tall young man with a blonde mustache who also appeared ill at ease in his somewhat trying situation. He denied emphatically that Ayres had anything to do with the Baldwin deal at all, nor had he mentioned it to Ayres at any

On cross-examination Norton also refused to answer many of the questions put to him on the ground that he was under indictment upon the same charge, and he was extremely cautious about answering at all.

answering at all.

During the examination of the witness R. A. Ling, Esq., was severely sat upon by the Court for making remarks after objections had been ruled upon, and at one time contempt proceedings seemed imminent, as the defendant's attorney seemed determined not to be suppressed. Norton did not make a favorpressed. Norton did not make a favor-able showing on the stand, as he besi-tated a long time before responding to the questions put to him, and repeatedly forgot what the question was while thinking of what his answer should be. He left the stand finally with evident relief, and, after a brief consultation with his counsel, the defendant took the stand in his own behalf. He wa very cool and collected, and responded to the questions put in a clear voice. He testified to the effect that his name was Lyman Ayres, that he had re sided in the county for twelve years and the State for thirty years and was a man of family. He was called upon to state all his connection with the mat ter set forth in the indictment from h ter set forth in the indictment from beginning to end, in detail, in his own way, but Assistant District Attorney McComas objected to the instructions of his/counsel, and insisted upon his being examined properly, which objection was sustained by the Court.

He then testified to the effect that he was the Board and had see the he then testined to the effect that he knew E. H. Boyd and had first spoken to him in Sacramento about three months ago. He first met H. S. Baldwin in the early part of May last in Norton's office, whither he went on business. Baldwin, upon being intro-duced by Norton, said he had been look-ing for him, as he had heard that he owned a piece of property in the Krae-mer tract, in Orange county, and wanted to find out something about it. The witness told him that he had never owned any part of lot 19 of the tract but knew the land, and he then drew a but knew the land, and he then drew a map of lot 19, which Baldwin recog-nized very quickly, and told him all he knew about it, saying that that part he knew about it, saying that that part of the land which was in the wash was worthless, but the rest was good land and worth at least $100 per acre. As Baldwin appeared to be in doubt as to the title to the land, the witness suggested that he go to either Shinn or Cadman, and finally took him over and introduced him to the former. After that he occasionally saw Baldwin services. that he occasionally saw Baldwin, and one day the latter met him of street and told him that he had robbed in the transaction, as all the land he had got was in the river.

The defendant denied emphatically that he had ever conspired with Stump, Boyd, Morgan and Norton, or any other persons, to defraud Baldwin, or that he ever made false representations to him. He did not even know that Baldwin had a lot on Bunker Hill avenue for sale or trade before he met him; nor could he remember whether or not Baldwin had ever told him that he owned such prop-

He was never authorized to sell lot of these and reptiles of various kinds besides those mentioned, says they are misunderstood.

"I never knew of a really healthy man dying from the effects of any of these," he said yesterday at the American Exchange. "Nothing we have in California will kill a person whose blood is in good condition but a rattlesnake. Take it when the blood isn't pure, and sometimes a pin puncture or a bite of any ordinary fly will kill. It depends on just how had the blood is.

"There is another odd thing about a bite from any poisonous reptile or insect. If the subject has not been a heavy drinker plentiful potions of liquor will, to an almost absolute certainty, pull him through. In cases of a rattlesnake bite ordinarily this is about the best remedy, but if the bitten man has been a stiff and steady imbiber it won't do any good. If he depends on the whisky remedy he stands a good chance to go under.

"A tarantula bite doesn't amount to much. They only pinch a little and it causes but a slight swelling, which will go down again in a short time. Many a time I have waked up in the morning on the desert and found tarantulas in my blanket. They come in to keep warm. There isn't much danger from the bite of any of those mentioned but the rattlesnake." Petition of Charles R. Bruner for the admission to probate of the will of Elias Bruner, deceased, who died on January 8 last, at Clearwater, leaving real and personal property valued at $853.

WESTBROOK'S FALL.

Another Santa Fe Employee Goes Wrong.

This Time the Land Department is the Sufferer.

C. Westbrook is a Defaulter for a Large Amount.

Unknown, But It Will Run Into the Thousands—Escape of the Embezzier.

M. C. Westbrook, assistant secretary of the Pacific Improvement Company, the land department of the Santa Fé Railroad Company, is missing, and it is now known that he is a defaulter for a large amount. The Santa Fé appears to have been particularly unfortunate in the way of defalcations, this being the fourth case in the past three or four years. The first case that came to was that of Kirste, who was a clerk in the ticket office, who got away with $1200 or $1500, was convicted and sent to San Quentin for a year and half. He served his term, and committed suicide in San Francisco some months ago. Then came the cases of Dunn and Martin, in the freight department, whose shortage footed up some $4000 to $5000, and now comes some $4000 to $5000, and now comes the case of Westbrook, whose stealings will probably exceed $10,000, at the very least, as they extend over a period of many months, and the work of investigation is necessarily slow.

Three weeks ago last Tuesday Westbrook failed to show up at his desk. He did not return to his home that night, and no explanation being forthcoming an investigation into his accounts was at once commenced, and it was soon discovered that Westbrook had been systematically robbing the company for months. Westbrook is an expert book-keeper and accountant and covered his tracks well.

The railroad officials, as usual in such cases, are very reticent, and decline to say anything about the defaulter's methods or to give any information as to the amount of the shortage, but it is certain to reach five figures when its certain to reach five figures when its full extent is known.

From the time Westbrook left his office, Monday night, three weeks ago, no one has seen him nor has a word been heard from him. The company at once put its detectives on the case, but so cleverly had the fugitive covered his tracks that not the slightest clew could be obtained. From some remarks let so cleverly had the fugitive covered his tracks that not the slightest clew could be obtained. From some remarks let drop by Westbrook it was thought that he had gone to Nicaragua, but whether such is the case is not known, and, after waiting a week or ten days, a complaint was sworn out against. Westbrook, charging him with embezzlement, and a warrant issued for his arrest. At this time the main facts of the case were ascertained by The Times, but at the request of the railroad officials, who thought the fugitive could be captured if the matter was kept quiet, nothing was said in order that they might have a fair chance to get their man. All hope of effecting his capture has, however, been abandoned, and there is now no necessity for further concealment.

Westbrook was a married man and left his wife and two little children, the eldest not yet 8 years of age and the other a six-months-old babe, behind him. He owned some property on Seventh street near the Westlake Park, where he formerly lived, but the house was destroyed by fire some time ago, since which time he has been living at No. 1827 South Flower street. Mrs. Westbrook did what she could toward making the defalcation good by turning over what property she had to the company, and on Saturday last left for Michigan, where she will find a home with her parents.

It is not believed that Westbrook had

He had been for some time past addicted to gambling, and the money he stole went in that way. He was quite well known in a number of the poker rooms in the city, and it is reported that he dropped quite a sum at the poker room in the Phillips Block, besides others on First and Spring streets.

The best authorities in Southern California commend these lands for the raising of Lemons. One syndicate is arranging to plant 1000 acres in Oranges and Lemons, one-half each.

Aside from its wonderful advantages as a fruit-producing colony, South Riverside is an important manufacturing point. The Pacific Clay Manufacturing Company's vitrified sewer and water-pipe works -the largest on this coast-are located here. Also the Porphyry Paving Company, the Standard Fertilizing Company, and two pottery works. This is the shipping point for the famous Temescal tin mine plant. A company is now being formed to work on a large scale the finest cement rock found in the United States. This latter company will probably employ 200 or more men. The material is at hand for additional manufactories.

The Town of South Riverside

Contains numerous business houses, and there are churches, hotels, a bank and all other improvements necessary to make a thriving town.

REDLANDS On 10 years' time

20 ACRES OF THE finest orange land within 1 mile of the two railroad depots at Redlands for $300 per acre, including the water piped to the highest corner. Only $300 cash down and the balance can run for ten (10) years at 6% per cent. interest; 5 acres or 10 acres of it will be sold at the same price and terms.

1 TWO-STORY HOUSE and 41/4 acres of Washington Navel oranges on the finest residence street in Redlands. Price only $6000; one-third cash down, balance in 1, 2 and 8 years at 6% per cent. net interest.

10 ACRES only two blocks from the Redlands postoffice; all in fine orange trees 6 years old. If sold immediately only $10,000; this property is worth nearly double the amount to sell as city lots at present prices ..

10, 20, 40 or 80 ACRES on Mentone famous Mentone Nurseries where the lemon buds have grown 8 feet last season, and orange buds 6 feet without being fertilized; where the severe frosts of this winter have not injured a single tree; where it is so calm that the orange trees do not require any stakes; where the settlers have pure mountain water to drink free of charge; where you can see nearly every town in the valley, and all trains running into Mentone on all the railroads from your own door; where people go from 100 miles distant to buy 1-year-old prune trees for 20 cents each by the 1000, and peaches and apricots at 15 cents each; where the 1-year-old lemon trees (budded) sell at $1.50 each and orange trees at $1.00 each by the 1000; where there is only about 200 acres of this choice land now unsold and can be bought at $300 per acre. Terms, one-third cash, balance on or before 5 years at 8 per cent interest. 5.10 and 20-acre tracts at Mentone, nearer town, and fully as good for oranges and other fruits, but not suitable for nursery stock, at $200 per acre; only 10 per cent. cash and balance on 5 years' time.

Are still offering great inducements to settlers on the Alessandro tract OF 21,000 ACRES! Which lies only eight and one-half miles distance from Riverside on the west. Ten thousand acres are already sold; 5000 acres are being improved. Between 300 and 400 families are living there today, with churchs, schools, stores and hotels. The Alessandro Tract of 21,000 acres is equal to 35 square miles, and is 12 miles long by 3 to 4 miles in width. A most magnificent valley. With the finest soil in the world for orange or fruit culture; with the best water right in Southern California. No stone or brush on the land. People wonder at the great success and rapid growth of Alessandro until they are driven over the tract, then they are not surprised, and all exclaim: "The half has not been told."

Nature has truly been lavish with her gifts at Alessandro in regard to climate and—location, and we predict a much more rapid growth during the next two years than in the past year and a half of its existence.
